

Can you identify a member of your team who would benefit from Agile Nation 2?

Agile Nation 2 offers women the chance to benefit from a fully funded career development programme. To gain the skills, confidence and knowledge to take the next step in their career and reach their full potential:

Building on the success of the first Agile Nation project where over 2,900 women took part, we're now looking for more women who also want the opportunity to benefit from our proven and highly respected development programme.

The project offers women who are employed in the nine priority industry sectors the opportunity to take part in a comprehensive career development programme. This includes benefits such as creating a personal career action plan, accredited leadership and management training and inspirational workshops covering a range of subjects such as problem solving, managing difficult conversations, time management, organisation skills and mindfulness.

This complete career development programme has been designed to help women to gain the knowledge and confidence that will support their positive development and progress in the workplace.

There is no cost to participate in the project, although demand for places is expected to be high and any woman interested in taking part needs to meet a set eligibility criteria.

This criteria includes working in one of the nine industry sectors. These are: Construction, Tourism, Financial and Professional Services, Energy and Environment, Advanced Materials and Manufacturing, Creative Industries, Food and Farming, Life Sciences and ICT.

Agile Nation 2 is ideally suited for women who are looking to progress into team leadership, supervisory or first management roles.

To find out more about what the programme offers please contact Suzy Cook on: suzy.cook@chwaraeteg.com or 07758 929646

